Iowa State University
Department of Veterinary Clinical Sciences Primary Care Canine/Feline Residency Program

1. Overview:

This Primary Care Residency Program has been designed to provide in-depth training in Canine/Feline medicine and related basic and applied sciences. The program has been developed to provide residents with a comprehensive knowledge of common conditions affecting animals. Our program strives to prepare residents for active careers in academia or specialty practice, and the caseload provides an excellent and broad experience over the duration of the residency. The residency will fulfill the training requirements and partially fulfill the requirements for certification by the American Board of Veterinary Practitioners.

The primary mentors of the training program are faculty of the Department of Veterinary Clinical Sciences (VCS).

Clinical facilities of the Hixson-Lied Small Animal Hospital and Dr. W. Eugene and Linda Lloyd Veterinary Medical Center (Large Animal) will be the primary training location for the Iowa State University (ISU) portion of the residency.

2. Objectives

2.1 To provide advanced training in clinical problem solving and diagnostic and therapeutic techniques in the specialty field.

2.1.1 To become familiar with diseases afflicting veterinary patients and to be able to logically correlate all clinical data in order to formulate and execute correct treatment plans.

2.1.2 To provide a firm understanding of the underlying pathophysiological basis of disease.

2.1.3 To master the art and science of complete patient care, assess outcomes and to appreciate the economic and emotional factors involved in the health care of animals.

6.0 Teaching Program

6.1 Throughout the program residents will be viewed as role models by both interns and professional students. They should always present themselves in a professional manner.

6.2 The resident will participate in clinical instruction and may participate in the evaluation of veterinary students assigned to clinics.

6.3 The resident will participate in preclinical didactic lecture and laboratory instruction as assigned by his/her advisor.

7.0 Board Certification

7.1 An important credential in veterinary medicine is board certification in a specialty area. One of the objectives of the program is to prepare the resident for certification by the American Board of Veterinary Practitioners.

7.2 In order to qualify for examination the resident should refer to the published requirements of the college. (www.abvp.com)

7.3 It is solely the responsibility of the resident to submit any material and fees required by the specialty college for registration, credentials applications or board examinations.

8.0 Clinical Program

The training program is a minimum of 104 weeks (2 years) full time, with 2 weeks of vacation per year (total 4 weeks). The program is designed as follows: The Canine/Feline residency training must include all phases of practice, i.e. medicine, anesthesiology, dermatology, surgery, radiology/diagnostic imaging, ophthalmology, theriogenology, population based preventative medicine, and clinical and gross pathology. The resident will follow a cycle which is tailored to best facilitate seeing a large caseload with “off clinic” weeks spent in other disciplines, including clinical pathology, surgery, oncology, theriogenology, anesthesia, dermatology, medicine, radiology and shelter medicine.
A total of 70 weeks of core training over a two year period will be within the VTH and 30 weeks which can be in related rotations for a total of 100 weeks of supervised clinical training and practice.

Below is a description of the 52 weeks per year of training.

15.2 Code of professional conduct

A code of conduct is meant to help guide professionals in proper interaction with other professionals. No document can be all inclusive or specific. This list is meant to direct a professional veterinarian, or veterinary student, toward proper conduct and interactions within the hospital and college.

1. Each clinician (faculty, residents, and interns) has numerous interactions with veterinary students and should realize that they are role models for these students. Professional attire and language, and appropriate interactions with referring veterinarians are expected at all times. All clinicians must take care to never use denigrating or insulting language when referring to other veterinarians including referring veterinarians, or to students.
2. Clinicians should refer to each other and other veterinarians as “Doctor” while in the hospital and should instruct students to do the same.
3. All clinicians should strive for the best care for all patients in our hospital. It is inevitable that there will be differences of opinion as to what that best care entails. There is also the possibility that a clinician, for whatever reason, is not caring for a patient to a standard appropriate for this hospital. If a clinician feels that a patient is not cared for appropriately or to a certain standard, then that clinician should discuss their concerns with the attending clinician in a collegial manner (in private venue, not in front of colleagues or students).
4. It is appropriate to collegially discuss the care of cases in case rounds and in the presence of the attending clinician on the case. It is inappropriate to question the care of a patient by another clinician in the presence of clients, students, house officers, referring veterinarians, or attending clinicians outside of case rounds or without the presence of the attending clinician. This is a severe breach of medical ethics and may warrant corrective measures.
5. Students and clinicians come from diverse backgrounds and cultures. It is inappropriate to discuss another professional’s personal life while conducting hospital business.

College of Veterinary Medicine Collegiality Policy:

All CVM employees have a responsibility to maintain a positive workplace that is free of discrimination and harassment. Collegial interactions with all co-workers in the CVM are required. Faculty and staff are expected to model safe and fiscally responsible behavior for students, and are expected to be in compliance with established policies of the CVM and Iowa State University (including the ISU Code of Computer Ethics and Acceptable Use, biosafety regulations, OSPA, purchasing, etc.). All faculty and staff are expected to participate in the annual performance evaluation process.
